COVER PICTURES

This is a post script to the 1938 Hurricane story These before and after photos by Win Jenny tell an elequent story both on the ground and in the air. This is the corner of Pearl and Water Sts. in 1938 before and after the hurricane. In a single day,the magnificent elm trees which formed cool tunnels of Mattapoisett's streets were marked for doom. It has taken 25 years to wipe out trees that developed in over one hundred.A single storm started what a series of tropical storms finally finished. Today, the few elms remain are either dead or dying and the entire character of the town has changed. One of the most striking things about the old pictures of the town is the shade. New trees of different varieties are now growing but it will be generations before they reach their peak.

In Mr. Mendell's story of the "38 Hurricane, he mentioned Enoch Winslow's successful fight to save his boat as he rode her in from the wharf. Mr. Winslow's boat is in the foreground at Pearl Street. Just to the right, are the roots of an uprooted elm. Behind, is the mast of the boat that rammed the porch of the Monroe home.

We are grateful to Mr. Mendell for his most interesting story and to Win Jenny for the photos.

ROCHESTER BOWLING LEAGUE, OCTOBER 15

Shutouts were a dime a dozen in the Rochester Bowling League as all four matches ended 3 and 0. Herbs TV continued to stun their opponents with Herb Snell hitting 350 to lead his team to a win over Hartley Saw Mill. John Cebula celebrated his return with a 357. Mike Renahan's 369 was tops for Dennis Mahoney in their sweep of Hartley's Garage. Eddie Rounseville pinned 331 for the losers. The Woodchoppers, paced by Jeff Jefferson's 338, overpowered the Knotty Pine Cafe and Barney Jefferson's 365. Eddie Lawrence, with a 357, helped Lloyds Market dump Hiller's Garage. Ed Figuerido came up with a 349 for Hillers.

GUILD SPONSORING RICE BOWL OFFERING

Hungry cries of two hundred Korean babies will be appeased with a little more in their rice bowls with the "Grace of God" and the help of churchgoers of Rochester First Congregational Church.

The situation at the Isabelle Orphanage in Pusan, Korea was brought to the attention of the Women's Guild of the Rochester church through a letter received from the Cup of Cold Water Mission at Redondo Beach, California. The mission is a missionary project of the Guild. The letter noted that the care of the infants at the orphanage required the use of 1,000 diapers a day, 100 garments a month, 800 bottles of milk a day and 100 8 oz. boxes of cereal a day.

Diseased barley crops, months of rain and the devastating typhoon Shirley have diminished food sources in Korea. Responsible for the care and feeding of over 300 persons, it became necessary for the orphanage to cut

X-RAY SURVEY

Details of a Special Groups' X-ray survey to be conducted in Mattapoisett on Friday, November 15, 1963, were released recently by Dr. Stanley J. Mysliwy, member of the Board of Health.

The survey, the first in Mattapoisett is somewhat unique because for the first time X-raying will be done in a mobile bus type unit hired by the Plymouth County Health Association which is offering the survey in cooperation with Plymouth County Hospital of Hanson. It is called a Special Groups' X-ray Survey because it is especially aimed toward X-raying the age and occupational groups which have higher TB rates and other respiratory diseases. The groups are men over 25, both sexes over 60, foodhandlers, industrial workers, and occupants and employees of nursing and rest homes, teachers and other school employees.

SCORELESS TIE IN OLD ROCHESTER-BOURNE GAME

The Bulldogs lived up to their name on Saturday as they clamped an iron jaw on the Bourne attack whenever it reached scoring distance. Bourne returned the compliment by stopping both Rochester threats the last of which was late in the 4th quarter. Old Rochester ran out of downs on the Bourne 5-yard line. The game was hard fought by two very evenly matched teams. Both teams had flashes of offensive drive only to be stymied close to the goal. Don Dorr of Rochester spoiled a Bourne sustained drive which took them from their 20 to the OR 5. Dorr intercepted from behind the goal line for the saving touchback. Late in the 4th Bill Garcia returned a punt to
